

Press Quotes:

"...On the cusp of stardom...an up-and-coming singer-songwriter with a voice that's strong and sure...a powerful songstress...[Leave the Light On] is an astonishingly slick independent CD with a big studio sound..."

- Denise Taylor, The Boston Globe (Boston, MA), 06/07

"...Juliet's songs offer the kind of music that should be heard in every club and venue throughout New England and beyond...Fans of local music in New England have a real moment-in-time opportunity to support and nurture a true artist who calls New England home..."

- Shaun McNamara, Metronome Magazine Cover Story (Boston, MA), 09/05

"...Lloyd should be on every dial you can imagine...Her tunes are original and, yet, very much a throwback to 70's Motown...This girl has soul."

- Pat Keating, InSite Magazine (Boston, MA), 11/05

"...Juliet Lloyd can move you from uncontrollable dancing to the brink of tears within a moment..."

- Tim Karan, Rochester Insider (Rochester, NY), 02/06

"...The Boston-based singer/songwriter blew the crowd away the last time she played this sleek cafe, so get there early for good seats..."

- Kathleen Deely, The Lowell Sun (Lowell, MA), 06/05

"... She can whisper with sweet abandon or wail with unabashed power...a multi-talented lady that can rock the house with the gifts she possesses...With a calling card this good, the sky is the limit..."

- Douglas Sloan, Metronome Magazine (Boston, MA), 09/07

"I really, really like this young lady's voice. Pianist-singer Juliet Lloyd exudes vocal might and flexibility – with ease. She effortlessly sings her own pretty, pop-rock lullabies of self discovery and wonder..."

- Frank De Blase, City Newspaper (Rochester, NY), 05/05

"...Juliet Lloyd hails from Boston, an innocent-looking 24-year-old with a voice that can knock you over with its richness and natural strength...Her delivery is smooth, solid and easy on the ears..."

- Mike Sembos, Fairfield Weekly (Norwalk, CT), 08/05

"...[Lloyd] offers up a poignant collection of pop songs filled with lush musicality and her beautiful vocals...she incorporates jazz, pop, funk, and rock in her songwriting to deliver a sound that is both timeless and original..."

- Brian Owens, Metronome Magazine Cover Story (Boston, MA), 10/07
